Reconciliation among Non-Muslims in the Verses of the Holy Quran

Prof. Mohammed Abdulaziz bin Mohammed Al-Awaji

Research Abstract

Research Subject:

The research begins with stating the comprehensive verses discussing reconciliation between non-Muslims, reasons for revealing these verses, and total meaning of these verses. Then, the research answers the question "Were these verses abrogated?". After that it shows the provision of reconciliation between non-Muslims, its importance, and merits. The research also details the cases and advantages of reconciliation between non-Muslims. The research presents an example from the Holy Quran and concludes with obstacles in this regard.

Research Objectives

The research aims to express the Islamic method in reconciling between non-Muslims with different types and religions including those with the Holy Book and others through tackling the instructions of the Holy Quran and Sunna, and the practical application in the prophet's biography and his companions in this regard.

Research Problem

- What does a Muslim do if a non-Muslim has a problem with a non-Muslim?
- Does a Muslim accept the invitation to reconcile between non-Muslims?
- Does reconciliation between non-Muslims conflict with Muslim's ideology?
- Is reconciliation between non-Muslims a legal instruction or a relation of this life imposed by reality?

The most Significant Findings:

- The necessity to reconcile between non-Muslims.
- It is important to have certain Muslims specialized in reconciliation between non-Muslims on the level of individuals and institutions.

- Those specialized in reconciliation must have jurisprudence, wisdom, intelligence, and knowledge

Keywords:

Reconciliation – non-Muslim – community - Merits of Islam

AN OBJECTIVE STUDY

DR. ABDULLAH BIN ABDULAZIZ BIN SALIH ad-DUGHAITHIR

Research Topic:

This research is concerned with compiling Quranic verses which comprise negation from fear and grieve in the Quran, and studying them objectively according to prescribed methodology.

Research Objective:

Explaining the reasons for the negation of fear and grieve from those whom Allah has negated them in the Quran and highlighting the guidance, benefits and rulings derived from the Quranic verses.

Research Problem:

The research problem lies in the following questions:

- 1- Who are those whom Allah has negated fear and grieve from them in the Quran?
- 2- What are the reasons for the negation of fear and grieve from them in the Quran?
- 3- What are the Quranic guidance that can be deduced from knowing those whom Allah has negated fear and grieve from them in the Quran?

Research Findings:

- 1- Variation in the style of the Quran in negating fear and grieve from those individuals.
- 2- That complete negation of fear and grieve from the believers will only be in the hereafter.
- 3- That polytheism is one of the greatest causes of fear and grieve.

JURISPRUDENTIAL RULINGS RELATED TO THE GLORIOUS QURAN IN SNAP PROGRAM

Dr. Nihal bint Ibrahim Abahussain

Research Topic:

This research studies jurisprudential matters related to the use of the Quran in snap program due to the wide spread usage of this program. Thus, there is need to know those matters and link them to the fundamentals of the sharia.

Research objective:

Explaining the jurisprudential ruling of every form among the forms studied in accordance with sharia principles, and the research comprised putting the Quran in:

- 1- Stories of the users encouraging charity work or in intervals between them or for the purpose of marketing and announcement.
- 2- Mentioning selected definitions from its verse

Research Problem:

What is the jurisprudential ruling of using the Quran in snap program in the forms mentioned?

Research findings:

The ruling of using the Quran in snap program differs according to the way it is used but the most authentic view is that it is prohibited because it negates the glorification of the Quran it downgrades it except for putting it in the stories of the users of the program, the most authentic view on this is that it is permissible if certain conditions are fulfilled which are putting a caution before and after the story which will indicate that there are Quranic verses in it, and the purpose should be for benefits and not beautification.

CRITICAL VIEWS ON THE ISSUE OF PRESUMPTIVE NATURE OF THE PRINCIPLES OF AUTHENTICATING NARRATIONS

Dr. Mashhoor bin Marzooq al-Harazi

Research Topic:

Study on the issue of presumptive nature of principles of authenticating narrations.

Main Objective of the Study:

Critiquing the view that the principles of authenticating narrations are totally presumptive hence some people are using this view to reject ahadith that are agreed upon by scholars of hadith as authentic, in a way that is not consistent with scientific methodology.

Research Problem:

What exactly are these principles? What is their position in terms of certainty and presumption? How do we regulate the view that their results are presumptive? What is the origin of the difference resulting from the principles of authentication? Who are the first proponents of the view that they are totally presumptive? What led to this view? What are the probable arguments in its favour and the response to them?

Research Findings:

- 1- That the principles of authenticating narrations are certain in their conditions, and at the same time we are confident in the rulings derived from them. As for the view that these principles are presumptive in their conditionality, or that the results from them are presumptive, this is an innovation.
- 2- That the rulings derived from principles of authentication are matters of scholarly efforts. However, that should not cast doubt on every ruling derived from them claiming that it is presumptive and based on scholarly effort.
- 3- The first person to come up with the view that the principles of authenticating narrations are presumptive is Sheikh Dhafar Ahmad al-Uthmani at-Tahanawi (Died 1394 AH), and what led him to this is his attempt to defend the Hanafi school of thought and refute its oppositions.
